The evening passes quickly and we have fun. At the end of the evening I take her home and I kiss her. She smiles softly and enters her house.

I don't believe it, he kissed me. I've been thinking about that moment all evening.

(the following morning)

I'm super happy with the day about to begin. I have to tell my friends everything. When I get to school, my friend tells me that Liam had a car accident on his way home. He didn't survive.
